

ABSTRACT

A rain head is disclosed having three filters through which water entering an inlet to the rain head must pass
5 before passing out through an outlet from the rain head.
The filters remove successively smaller particles from the water.